Bert Heron, the Spirit of Old Carmel

The story of the late Bert Heron, poet, actor, dramatist, director, rancher, mayor, is the story of community spirit in Carmel.

He arrived in Carmel in 1908 at the age of 25, having spent his early years on ranches in southern California. His interests having changed to writing and acting, he was drawn here by the writers among the early settlers. He started Carmel's first book shop, the Seven Arts, in the Seven Arts Court on Lincoln street.

This gave him plenty of time to write poetry which was published in literary magazines, and plays, and to read Shakespeare. Proprietors in those days sometimes took off for the beach on nice days. The note Bert Heron left on his shop one day: "Closed—Shakespeare's Birthday" is still remembered.

He missed acting and set about to start a community theatre. "He found the perfect site in a spot in the woods, a concave hillside walled by magnificent pines, furnished with splendid oaks, and roofed by stars," said an early PINE CONE issue. In 1910, he succeeded in organizing the Forest Theater Society. The chief aim of the organization was to produce plays by local writers, to see how they looked in production, and to give local people experience.

Grace MacGowan Cooke wrote for the PINE CONE: "Shortly after we arrived, the Forest Theater came into being. To us, nothing will ever be quite like that first play of DAVID, given in crude surroundings, lit by great carbon lights and gasoline torches and flowing full of the community spirit, raised to a sort of happy madness."

Since that first play produced by Bert Heron, 30 some plays by local writers have been produced, as well as a score of Shakespeare's plays in many of which Heron starred. One of the plays by early residents was Heron's "Immortal Fame."

In the words of Daisy Bosstick in the PINE CONE, Bert Heron made the Forest Theater the one REAL community effort. Everyone worked on the plays. If the grocer couldn't memorize a part he painted scenery or carried a spear. Housewives made costumes and took part in mob scenes. Retired college presidents and noted architects designed and built which they had on hand.

scenery. Everyone worked all day and into the night. They carried food in baskets and ate it around a jolly campfire upon which a large pot of coffee was always boiling. In Bert's early days the Forest Theater was FUN.

Oldtimers and visitors alike still experience the ro-

Few Stamps Left at P.O.

The Carmel Post Office is suffering from a lack of stamps sent from Washington. Presently, they are out of one-cent, three-cent, and six-cent stamps, "but," according to Assistant Postmaster Bill Wollesey, "we are expecting a shipment soon . . . maybe tomorrow."

"So far," he added, "we have been able to accommodate the people, but we are depleting our reserves rapidly."

The postmen are trying every combination possible to come up with sufficient postage for the new rate. For example: they have plenty of 1/2-cent stamps for people who need them to go with their five-cent stamps which they had on hand.

CROSBY DRAWS PROS AND STARS

In case you see James Bond at the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship don't be surprised. Because Sean Connery is one of those who have been invited by Bing.

Sean is only one of the usual long list of celebrities who will play Cypress Point, Spyglass Hill and Pebble Beach golf courses. Others include Phil Harris, Ray Bolger, Clint Eastwood, Tennessee Ernie Ford, James Garner, Dean Martin, Paul Stookey, John Raitt, Forrest Tucker and Andy Williams.

From the sports world, in addition to the golfers, amateur entrants include Pete Elliott, Bones Hamilton, Sandy Koufax, Jack Kramer, Ralph Kiner, Ernie Nevers, Frank Souchak and many others.

Among the professionals Jack Nicklaus is on hand to defend his title, hard pressed by Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, and all of the great

Talcott Talks at Rotary

Our 12th District Congressman Burt L. Talcott was the speaker at Carmel Rotary Club's last Wednesday luncheon meeting.

Congressman Talcott mentioned that he has not been able to have the degree of personal contact with his constituents that he prefers because of the last session of Congress plus a few family matters including the fact that he is now a new grandfather. Now he must go to Vietnam as a member of the Military Construction Committee to which he has been appointed.

His talk included comments:

● He does not favor redistricting until after the 1970 census is completed. Districts will now find they have congressmen they didn't vote for.

● He was impressed with the vulgarity of the war demonstrators in Washington who did not number up to 155,000 persons as reported in the press but closer to 35,000 including 5,000 news media people.

● He said he was against the Supreme Court interference with Legislative bodies and was of the opinion that some of the Supreme Court members did not meet the qualifications of being good jurists. Nevertheless, that Court has handed down many wise decisions.

● Touching on fiscal situations, he reminded us that the U.S. declared a moratorium on World War I debts on which it cannot back down and that most countries' (including France) World War II debts were current.

He said that devaluation of the dollar is not anticipated right now but that if it does come, it will be overnight.

The price of gold could be changed without Congressional action.

During his talk, Congressman Talcott inserted several remarks to the effect that news media coverage has had considerable tendency to place undue attention on dramatic situations which sometimes mislead the public.

Theatre Review

TIGER AND THE PUS-SYCAT. Italian comedy about a middle aged man's dilemma in choosing between his wife and family and a newly acquired mistress half his age.

ENDLESS SUMMER Bruce Brown has filmed a beautiful documentary on surfing, following the "Endless Summer" around the world, California, Nigeria, South Africa, Australia, Hawaii, in search of the perfect wave. Color and photography extremely good.

Large Crowd at Beach Bonfire

About 200 Carmelites gathered about the huge bonfire of Christmas trees at the foot of 13th Street on Twelfth Night last Friday. The flames leaped as high as 50 feet as the fragrant dry branches crackled. It was a warm evening, just right for the beach.

Five churches, as well as other townfolk, participated in the gathering meant to signify the burning out of the past and the Christ light of a world just born.

Later many of the young people went over to All Saints' Parish Hall where there was rock music by the Glass Menagerie, movies for little ones, and charades for grown-ups.

A large Epiphany cake, baked by Jo Brazell's mother, in which three dimes were baked, was shared. Finders of the dimes were crowned "Wise Men" and given caskets of "rubies." Jo is Youth Advisor to the Christian Youth Club, open to youngsters from all the churches.

The Reverend David Hill closed the evening with a dedication to the new year.

ULYSSES. By resourceful film techniques at some points plus a willingness merely to illustrate voice over passages at others, Director Joseph Strick and an excellent cast have rendered James Joyce's great novel in absorbing cinematic terms.

THE BIBLE Director John Huston has spent 18 million while filming the first 22 chapters of Genesis in epic terms. The tedious results will have little appeal to those who do not accept fundamental teachings. The final sequences of Abraham show some value, however.

VALLEY OF THE DOLLS Superficially glamorous film version of a novel about drugs, jealousy and big-city sin among those in the theater world. Susan Hayward, Patty Duke star.

GLORY STOMPERS, Saddle your hogs and ride man ride. The deadliest cycle gang war ever waged. In Colorscope by Pathe, Black souls on a rampage.

Dennis Hopper kidnaps Chris Noel and leads his renegades in an escape from murder and kidnapping charges.

THE PENTHOUSE. This singularly revolting film demonstrates what happens when a less gifted writer than Harold Pinter tries to copy Pinter. The action takes place in a penthouse apartment in an unfinished building. They are invaded by two young men, bright, strange and probably odd who arrange a particularly unpleasant day for illicit lovers.

THE COMEDIANS. Graham Greene wrote the screen play, set in Haiti, although filmed in Africa and the South of France. This is a turbulent drama of a group of Europeans living under the dictatorship of Papa Doc Duvalier, starring Elizabeth Burton playing the unfaithful wife of Peter Ustinov.

CARMELITE PRODUCER MAKES FILM HERE

Scenes from "the first honest picture about this generation" was shot last week on the Peninsula by distinguished producer-director Hall Bartlett, whose mother maintains a summer home in Carmel.

Entitled "Changes," the picture stars Kent Lane and Manuela Theiss, and is based on today's youth and their spiritual quests. Kent portrays a youngster who cannot seem to get along with his parents, resulting in a venture into the "hippie" world. After considerable exploration he becomes even more dissatisfied with this life, and decides ultimately to return to his home and society.

Manuela plays one of the three girls in his life, and in one sequence, which was filmed below Bixby Bridge, she wades into the icy cold Pacific to end her youthful life.

Mr. Bartlett told the Pine Cone that "Changes" came about as a result of his setting up a board of 27 young people whose backgrounds range from LSD and STP users, to those studying medicine and law. The entire feature, filmed under his guidance, was written by these youngsters, and "if anything shot or written resembled Hollywood, it was struck from the film." Few of the members of the cast ever have had stage or screen experience, and Mr. Bartlett says he is giving Hollywood what it is crying for... new faces.

This patient director-producer says he is "tired of the publicity exploiting the younger generation, and two years ago I set up this board of young people to do this film."

He also said that there is a revolution in this country; the only non-economic revolution in history. Every young man and woman—whether they have long hair or crew cuts, take LSD or not—have the same needs, the same spiritual quests. Mr. Bartlett went on to mention that many of these boys and girls are following the actions of Thoreau and are retreating to Nature. "This is why my Dad came here," he said, "to strive for a free way of life... a place where there is a spirit of free thinking."

"The reason I fought for shooting these scenes here is because I want to do something for my father," he said.

Mr. Bartlett's father, now deceased, and his mother came to Carmel 50 years ago, were married and maintained a home, recently sold, just inside the Carmel Gate in Del Monte Properties.

He recalls coming to Carmel during his father's vacations, and being impressed with the area. "There were so many things around to do with creativity," he said, "and the people here rejected joining the 'rat race.' I remember when I used to go to town and find on shop doors, 'closed... Shakespeare's Birthday'."

Hall Bartlett is the producer of the new MGM release, "Sol Madrid," starring David McCallum, Stella Stevens and Ricardo Montalban. He is recognized as "one of Hollywood's foremost filmmakers. The record of his eight previous productions, with a total of eight Academy Award nominations, speaks for itself. Of these he has received special acclaim for "Crazylegs," "Unchained," "All the Young Working with Mr. Bartlett on "Changes" are Academy Award winning costume designer (Spartacus) Bill Thomas and production manager Emit Emerson, production manager for "Hawaii." Thomas is the assistant producer of "Changes."

The 25-man crew, who stayed at the Pine Inn, filmed a dramatic sequence on a jagged rock on the 17-Mile-Drive, and a suicide attempt on the beach under Bixby Bridge. They also shot footage of Kent driving along Highway 1 near Point Lobos, and filled in with many scenic shots for the opening and closing of the film. In many cases a helicopter was used to get the desired effects.

Walter Spear of Carmel was in charge of arrangements for locations.

Starring in "Changes," Kent Lane and Manuela Theiss pause during takes to enjoy the beauty of our area.

Director-Producer Hall Bartlett (sitting) studies the setting on the 17-Mile Drive before shooting scenes from "Changes."

EDITORIAL

Apparently Gunnar Norberg's persistence in backing the referendum petition paid off this week when he obtained the sufficient number of signatures on a petition to bring about a vote on the ordinance providing for limited motel use in the R-1 District.

This repeal of the ordinance could be a blessing in disguise, and may be the salvation of the residential areas of Carmel.

If this ordinance becomes law might it possibly open the doors for more motels with little governing power by the City on their location? Let's suppose that a man with sufficient money purchases property near, or on the same block, as one of the motels with a use permit. The City has made it clear they will fight any further expansion, so what will they do if this man decides to build another motel or lodging unit on his newly acquired property? Will he be able to fight legally for his rights? Will he be able to claim discrimination? Will he be able to win? Ask your lawyer; mine said "maybe!"

Another question! What about the rental cottages on Scenic near Ocean Avenue? Could this be the wedge opening Scenic to another French Riviera or Miami Beach?

Greg Sprung Will Be Symphony Soloist

Greg Sprung, now in his Freshman year at San Francisco State College, will be a featured soloist with the Monterey County Symphony at its Youth Concert at Sunset Theatre, Saturday morning, January 13 at 10 o'clock.

At San Francisco State he is majoring in music and hopes to go on as a performer. He is a member of the orchestra, band and brass ensemble there.

Greg started his musical career in 7th grade when he was in the band led by John Farr. He continued at Middle School with Mr. Larson, and in high school, again with Mr. Farr while he studied under John Gosling.

He spent two summers at Asilomar at the summer music camp sponsored by the Lyceum. He has played regularly in both the Monterey County Junior and Senior Symphony.

He will play the Haydn Trumpet Concerto at the Youth Concert for which a school bus will bring children in from Tularacitos School in Carmel Valley.

Greg Sprung

Carmel children will come in car pools if they live too far to walk. There is no charge for the concert, designed for 4th through 9th grade students.

Don Chick Starter At MPCC

Don Chick, a Peninsula resident since a boy, is the man responsible for starting times at the Monterey Peninsula Golf and Country Club.

This athlete had quite a career during high school in Monterey as a tennis star, being awarded a number of medals. But now, in his adult years, Don has turned to golf and has been the starter at the club since 1947. He told the Pine Cone his handicap is "unknown... this is a different game."

Asked if he still swings the racket, Don said: "It has been quite some time, but I intend to start again when the weather breaks."

The last tournament he participated in came in 1946, the year he was discharged from the Navy. He confided in us, "I weighed 218 pounds when I played the tournament in '46."

While in the Navy during the War, stationed in Brazil, he won the Fleet championship and soon after was transferred to Japan. "They didn't play over there," he said.

Quiet Wedding for Janet Ann McKelvey

Highlands Inn Chapel was the setting for a small family wedding which united the former Janet Ann McKelvey in marriage with Jose Alfaro. Judge Eugene Harrah officiated.

Janet is the daughter of Mrs. Paul McKelvey of Carmel. She was graduated from the International School in Geneva, Switzerland, and attended Whitman College in Washington and Utah State University.

The groom is a faculty member of the agricultural engineering department at New Mexico State University where he does research. The couple met at Utah State where he received his Ph.D. He returned recently from a special teaching assignment in Venezuela with the Organization of American States. He is the son of Mrs. Carlos Alfaro of Peru.

Here for the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Martin (Ellen McKelvey) Weyrauch. Martin completed his internship last year and has been assigned medical duty as ship doctor for the Navy. He and Ellen will be commuting between San Francisco and Long Beach until May when his ship leaves for Viet Nam. Ellen will then return to Carmel where she spent her high school years while he is gone.

Janet's brother Dick McKelvey of Lodi, was present with his wife and children.

The couple are now at home in Las Cruces, New Mexico.

San Juan Island

Ernest Kellogg Gann, adventurer, one of Carmel's successful writers who has a number of best-sellers-turned-motion pictures to his credit, is hiding out on the San Juan Islands, off the state of Washington. One wonders what the next title will be.

Son George, who grew up here, lives in Belvedere where he is with Standard Oil.

New Florist

Carmel has gained another new resident and business operator in Mrs. Beverly Thomas. The new flower shop, upstairs in Del Dono Court is operated by Beverly Thomas. She and her mother are partners in this business. They have been professional florists for 14 years and intend to continue the operation of their South Gate, California florist business.

The Carmel shop is very pleasant and colorful reflecting their decorative ideas and fashions for floral arrangements. It is called "Beverly's" and carries a very nice selection of cut flowers and plants. They are members of Teleflorist which means you can order flowers by telephone, if you wish, for delivery any place in the world.

Mrs. Beverly Thomas has purchased a home on Carpenter street in Carmel and her 11-year-old son, Larry, now attends Carmel Middle School.

French Conversation Tea

The next French conversation tea sponsored by the Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula will take place at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Jervey with Mrs. Germaine Olivie as co-hostess, on Saturday, January 20 at 3 p.m. Members are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Jervey, 624-2003.

Perry House

Fine Artists At Perry House

THE PERRY HOUSE in Monterey recently won the December award of the Monterey Committee on Civic Appearance. This unique and interesting Victorian building is located on the block above the First Theatre, and houses many fine oil paintings by artists of the area.

Among them is Carmel artist William Timmins who is rapidly becoming distinguished as a fine painter.

Successful artists seem to run in Mr. Timmins' family, for his father was the late Harry L. Timmins who lived in Carmel where he established his international reputation. His brother-in-law, Donald Teague, is also featured at the Perry House.

Museum Nominations

The nominating committee of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association recommended 10 persons to serve a three-year term on the board of trustees.

Nominees are: Mrs. William Arnold, William Fitzhugh Jr., Mrs. Walter Jennings, Mrs. John H. Nail, Mrs. Saul Ewingarten, Mrs. Robert Work, Mrs. Keck Woodyard, Mrs. Dan Searle and William Concolino.

Art Exhibit At Valley Cinema

"Hawaii" is not the only feature at the Valley Cinema. Hans Skaalegaard is holding an exhibit of his paintings. Going along with the theme of "Hawaii" Hans will display many of his sailing ships in oil.

Tuesday the Skaalegaard gallery was included in the exhibit at the Officers' Wives Club at Fort Ord.

You're getting a piece of the action.

This year we're investing 275 million dollars to build a bigger energy system that will serve you better.

Our investment also means growth for California. Construction monies buy new equipment, materials, and meet payrolls for thousands of men. This creates even more jobs, stimulates more business and adds more PG&E property to tax rolls, supporting your local schools and government.

And new, more efficient facilities help hold down our gas and electric rates.

So whether it's better utility service, a new job or a new school—you can bet you'll be in on the action.

CARMEL TRAVELERS

MOSCOW

By Steven A. Gann

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, if not immediately, has eventually defeated all foreign interlopers. Napoleon managed to capture Moscow before being defeated. Hitler's advanced army units got within four miles of the city limits before they were stopped. I held out for nearly a week before disaster struck. Although in all fairness, it was not the worker's paradise that caused this defeat, but my own body malfunctioning.

"When is the next flight to Moscow?" I asked upon arrival in London. Having had an unscheduled layover in Newfoundland, due to engine failure over the North Pole, I had missed my plane to Moscow by some eight hours.

You can imagine how startled I was to hear that the daily flight to Moscow might leave and then again it might not. It was further revealed that I had been scheduled to fly on a Sudanese plane. After some investigating it turned out that my new scheduled flight was not Sudanese—which I felt was a blooper—but SU which translated meant Airo-Float. Sounded like an amphibian to me! Further inquiry disclosed that Airo-Float was the Russian Airline System. Having heard some way-out stories concerning this airline I was a little apprehensive, especially after the North Pole escapade. But then stories have a way of being exaggerated and doubtless this was the case here. Surely, I thought, there are international regulations imposed on all airline systems.

While in the Army I had become accustomed to climbing aboard military aircraft, but then I hadn't made the reservations nor had I paid for the seat. A further military convenience were the two parachutes strapped to my body. None of these advantages were to be mine, when to my horror I found myself climbing through the hatch of a Russian jet. The plastic bubble, in the nose of the aircraft, hadn't escaped my attention nor had the low slung military wings. To be associated again with military equipment, however superficially disguised, was unpleasant; being of Russian origin, it was shattering.

After settling myself in the rear of the aircraft, I surveyed my surroundings. Pampered by Western airlines, I was a bit dismayed over the drabness of the aircraft's interior. But this was nothing compared to the slow realization that the aircraft had no safety devices or manuals except for the seat belt securely fastened about my midsection. Pillows and blankets I can manage without, but the absence of life jackets, rafts and safety manuals is another matter. In fact the only reading material readily available was a magnificently produced magazine portraying the woman's part in the Communist Revolution and the workers' paradise. The flight across the North Sea and Baltic Sea began; I thumbed through the shiny pages depicting the woman's part in the Communist Revolution, while wishing instead for a copy of the Bible.

If the weather so much as sneezes at the Moscow Airport all flights are cancelled, and the airport is closed. Although the Russians are capable of navigating a space vehicle hither and thither about the universe, they, as yet, have not programmed the same energy into the Moscow International Airport. By Western standards the guidance equipment to handle air traffic is primitive and therefore poor weather makes arrivals and departures impossible.

Fortunately the weather was good to us and the plane settled easily on the deserted Moscow airstrip. While deplaning a Russian soldier collected all our passports. It makes one feel rather naked and decidedly insecure to have to part with this absolutely essential document. Then again one doesn't argue in the Soviet Union.

A soft numbness occurs when an individual encounters an environment appreciably foreign to that to which he is accustomed. And so it was that I found Moscow further removed from Western thinking than possibly Africa or even more remote areas such as Madagascar.

Moscow is a somber city, a monotonous city of uniform concrete and rambling trucks. The city lacks color in style and warmth, the architecture is mute, the people muffled in body and spirit.

The "Holy Mother," spiritually describes Moscow from the Russians' point of view. Indeed it is the center of their own peculiar universe. From the Westerners' position, Moscow is neither holy nor the center of their universe, but more exactly an exasperating place for the paranoiac Communist hierarchy. While the Russian masses are awed and envious of the Westerner, the party bosses and military leaders fear not only the West, history has substantiated these fears, but also the Russian peasant over which they preside.

Taking a camera about Moscow, or for that matter anywhere in Russia, will immediately bring home to the Western oriented traveler the paranoiac thinking that permeates the Kremlin.

You are prohibited, as written in Soviet Regulations, from photographing not only military installations, but harbors, railroad junctions, bridges and industrial enterprises, nor can you photograph from any airplane over any part of the Soviet Union. You are discouraged from photographing Russian peasants. This is not a complete list, but it demonstrates the psychotic thinking of those in power.

The Russians certainly know of our space vehicles with fantastic cameras and lenses and of past U-2 type and more recently about flights over their territory, flights of planes that make the U-2 look like a Piper Cub. It is no great realization to the Westerner that every blade of grass has been repeatedly photographed by Western powers. Therefore the restrictions placed on a tourist with an antiquated camera are absurd.

The attitude of the Soviet leaders has a similar unrealistic note when directed toward their own people. Daily, behind the Kremlin walls, conservative forces oppose those voices advocating a more progressive open policy toward the West. The great fear of the conservatives is that the masses of Russian peasants might realize the backwardness of their living standards and vigorously demand more and higher quality consumer products. Further, a subtle system of privileges available to the new technological, artistic and power aristocracy has not gone unnoticed by the common workers. The average Russian is groping, with intense hope, for the living standard found in the U.S. during the 1930's. It would be beyond him, to imagine a living standard enjoyed by the average American family today. The revolution of 50 years ago was instigated along a more extreme but similar line, and the Kremlin leaders are only too well aware of this.

Consider, for example, a capitol city with no phone books, only nine gas stations which only recently converted from hand pumps to electric power of only 1500 watts for each home, and where a refrigerator is still a luxury item. Numerous buildings about Moscow require wire nettings to catch bricks and cement pieces from falling to the sidewalk and seriously injuring the city's populace.

Steven Gann in New Guinea, 1964.

Buildings are constructed without foundations. The daily fight for purchasing food is completely beyond Western comprehension; not to mention the ratio of prices for consumer goods to the salaries of the average worker.

With stooped shoulders and a slow walking pace, an old Russian couple, wrapped in tattered clothes make their way through Moscow's streets. The face of each is worn and etched with deep lines. A Westerner sees them as walking skeletons; relics of war, famine and toil. They have somehow survived a horror-filled history few Westerners have ever experienced. As an American, protected and coddled, I can only wonder at the stamina and courage of these people. It seems the Russian peasant has survived and prospered, not because of communism, but despite it.

The USSR is a country that every American should visit. Dissenters and protestors would then realize that our homeland, while possibly not having the most perfect democracy imaginable, still allows the greatest freedom and highest living standard known to any society in the history of mankind.

Crosby High Tea

It is said the reason 18 holes of golf are played instead of 16, or 20 is that the old time Scot took along a fifth of Scotch whiskey and as he reached each tee he took a "wee nip." By the time he arrived at the 18th, the bottle was empty so he headed for the club house, also known as the 19th hole. We trust the Crosby golfers won't get teed off if we suggest having "high tea" instead, as they do in the British Isles. This form of gathering in your friends will be especially welcome on Sunday after the tournament is over. High society dowagers in Newport insist that a tea party is the nicest way to entertain but admit that a highball is permissible. Tea is the first consideration and the mainstay of a high tea is an expertly brewed pot of oolong, darjeeling or robust English breakfast tea.

A winter "high tea" set forth on a perfectly appointed round table in front of blazing logs in one's fireplace is a warming experience. Scotland, where golf first started, has produced its own shortbread and, of course, there are those famous scones. We are also giving recipes for watercress rolls and modern mini cream puffs filled with mushroom pate.

Cream Scones

Two cups sifted flour; 1/8 t. salt; 1 t. baking powder; 3 T. butter; 1 egg; 3 T. cream.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder into bowl. Cut in the butter until blended coarsely. Beat egg and cream together and add to mixture, tossing lightly with fork until dough is formed. Roll out dough about 3/4 inch thick on lightly floured surface, only once. Preheat oven to 400° F. Butter baking sheet and dust with flour. Place dough on tin and cut into 2-inch squares with knife. Brush top with a little milk. Bake 15 minutes. Recut squares.

Serve plain or with jam and butter.

Scotch Shortbread

Half lb. sweet butter; 1 cup confectioners' sugar; 1 cup sifted cake flour; 2 T. cornstarch.

Combine butter and sugar on board. Blend together with hands. Sift flour and cornstarch together and gradually work it into previous mixture until blended. Preheat oven to 425° F. Butter an 8-inch square pan and dust lightly with flour. Pat dough into pan with hands, as this dough must not be rolled. Prick the top with fork in several places. Bake 5 minutes; then reduce heat to 350° F. and bake 10 more minutes. Cut into squares immediately.

Watercress Rolls: Wash and drain watercress and remove small center sprigs for garnish. Remove stems from rest and chop finely. Soften sweet butter and add lemon juice to taste. Add chopped cress and spread on thinly sliced white bread from which crusts have been removed. Roll each and fasten with toothpick. Wrap in wax paper and chill. Remove picks and serve with cress sprigs as decor.

Mushroom-Pate Filling for Mini Puffs: 1/2 cup finely chopped fresh mushrooms; 1 T. butter; 2 cans (4 1/2 oz. size) liver pate; 2 T. mayonnaise; salt and onion powder to taste.

Saute mushrooms in butter until tender. Remove from heat and add rest; mix well. Either make small round open face sandwiches or the following

Mini Puffs: 1/2 cup boiling water; 1/4 cup salad oil, such as Wesson; 1/4 t. salt; 1/2 cup sifted flour; 2 eggs, unbeaten. Heat oven to 400° F. Drop by teaspoonfuls on un-oiled cookie sheet. Bake about 20 minutes until lightly puffed and browned. Cool and split with fingers just enough to add filling without removing top. Makes 2 1/2 dozen. These are also delicious when filled with finely chopped chicken, crab, tuna or shrimp salad. We suggest buying assorted cup cakes so that everything is eaten with one's fingers. And do you know that just plain bread and butter, thinly sliced, is the best and easiest of all and very British!

Every Carmel Pine Cone is usually available to and read by at least 4 people.

Mr. and Mrs. Ullrich Porzig and Klaus Porzig

WEDDING AT STANFORD

A charming Palo Alto wedding took place recently when Ullrich Eugene Porzig claimed Linda Ann Koche for his bride. The wedding took place at St. Ann's Chapel, not far from the campus and the reception was held at the Stanford Newman Center.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Koche of Saratoga. Rick is the son of Ann Werner Porzig of Carmel and Joachim Porzig of Carmel Highlands.

Both parents teach German at the Defense Language Institute at the Presidio.

Klaus Porzig of Carmel, a Stanford student, was his brother's best man, while Gordon von Richter of Carmel, also a student at Stanford, served as one of the ushers, all of whom were fraternity brothers. Michael Dougherty of Monterey, also of Stanford, officiated as lector during the ceremony. All four boys were classmates at Robert Louis Ste-

Nancy Thompson to Marry

A family dinner party for both families at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, was the occasion at which the engagement of Nancy Jeanne Thompson to James Joseph Eskilson was announced on December 30.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson Jr. of Carmel. She was a member of the 1966 graduating class at Carmel High School, and is now a sophomore at the University of California at Davis. She is a member of Job's Daughters here.

The occasion also celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Russel J. Eskilson, the mother of the groom-to-be, who had come up with Mr. Eskilson, from Santa Barbara. They brought with them Mrs. Flora Eskilson Kontje, James' grandmother.

James attended the University of California at Santa Barbara and is presently a senior at Santa Cruz.

Also present at the party was Miss Sharon Smith, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyn Smith of Carmel. Of course, Nancy's sister and four brothers were on hand. Beth is at Carmel Middle School while Larry is a junior at UC, Davis. Bill is a senior at Carmel High School, Bob, a sophomore, and Doug is at All Saints' Episcopal Day School.

A wedding at All Saints' Episcopal Church is planned for late in August.

with a strong win over Pescadero in Stevenson's first bid for a crown since joining the league. Zury feels we have "the best team in school history" and is most optimistic about high honors in the CAA this year.

Just after the vacation, RLS traveled to Pescadero and took the Vikings 71 to 46 with high-scoring John Cann sinking 21 points to lead the way. Mike Greene, with 17 points and "great defensive play," was cited by Coach Zury, as Eric Paulsen and George Winters, our "big" men, controlled the boards. Paulsen sank 13 points, Winters 9, and Jeff Erlandson 9. Sub Dan Guistina added 2 points, while Gordan Bradley, West Clark and Bob Ervin backed the team in the reserves.

The Frosh-Soph team, or Cmdr. Kinion's "Kats," had a bit more trouble than their big brothers, and dropped their opening game to Pescadero by just one point, 35-34. It was a heartbreaker as the Pirates led all the way until the last minute. It was a low scoring game (first period score 8-3 for RLS) with strong defensive play on both sides. The difference, for Pescadero, was John Gaede who scored 20 points for his team. Willis Cooke and John Reilly each had 8 points to lead Stevenson.

John Enders, Jim Doyle, Barry Biggerstaff and David Williams all helped the Stevenson team, and they all vowed "wait 'til our rematch."

The debate team again went on the road, traveling to King City to start the 1968 season, and again had the fortune to win the varsity as Robert Howard and Lonnie Foy won their third tournament of the year.

The team as a whole placed second in sweepstakes, with 28 wins, with many of the boys facing the tough task of returning at 1 a.m. from the basketball game, and then having to be up at 6:30 a.m. to get ready for debate, which is rare in high school, but common in college.

Teams with the best records in varsity included Jack Booth and Bill Kondrat, Bruce Decker and Pete Cowden and Joel Harris and Geoff Haynes. These boys have been the mainstays of the varsity team this year.

REPORT FROM RLS

Others making a fine showing were Mike Greene and Bill Hand, Jim Doyle and Jim Short and our "gutsy" little varsity team of Jon Merksamer and Steve Stremmel.

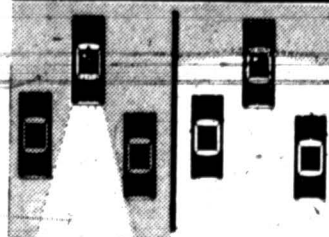

The JV's also had a good day, and while not winning a place in the finals, 3 of the five teams had outstanding records. Frank Moffett and John Witkin continued to surprise, as Arlen Chase and Rick Johnson, plus Jeff Erlandson and Gordan Bradley have shown improvement. Gary Novak and John Sharca, with West Clark and Charles Savitt, also made good showings.

Bob and Bob

"The Bob Louis Bobbies" are here in force. Some of you may think of them as birds, or planes, but in reality they are super-piano players, Bob Howard and Bob Peterson. Recently they gave a "twin" recital that was an outstanding and popular success.

WEBER REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

EXCHANGING is just good common-sense investing. Unless you are completely different than most people we know, when you shop, you read price tags and labels—to make sure the product you receive is worth the price you pay.

As investment counselors we tailor-make your investments to fit the "label" (percentage of return) you desire. Where does EXCHANGING come in? Well—if an investment is to truly fit your FULL VALUE, taxes must be included as part of the label and their consequences carefully calculated. "Taxes are enforced exactions, not voluntary donations." So—perhaps you are voluntarily contributing unnecessarily.

A counseling appointment can resolve your uncertainty.

Bert Heron, Spirit of Old Carmel

mance, mystery and enchantment of the setting of our outdoor Forest Theater—the first in the West, which Bert Heron called into being. The distant surf still provides soft music, colored moth-wings glisten in the shafts of spotlights and a shooting star may slide down behind feathery pine tassels.

The plays almost always went into the red but J. F. Devendorf, co-founder of Carmel, usually picked up the check. He felt that the advertising the plays brought him was worth a lot. Later, Jim Jordan, owner of the Pine Inn, underwrote many of the Shakespearian productions.

Then there was story-telling around the bonfire and sometimes the Shakespearian plays were burlesqued with the men and women extemporizing each other's parts. Imagine Kitty Cooke playing Romeo with Bert Heron making a coy Juliet. Such good old times.

Bert was a member of the famous Abalone League of soft ball players, comprised of various teams such as Sardines, Whales, Sanddabs, Sharks. Everyone turned out to cheer their favorites and groan at their defeats. The enthusiasm aroused was tremendous.

Herbert Heron served twice as mayor of Carmel, two terms each, resigning in 1941. In the bitter fight for sidewalks in the business district, he favored pastel colors, green, blue, pink, lavenders. Newspapers all over the country picked up the story. He later served on the planning commission and helped impede "progress" to keep Carmel as it was.

Heron is survived by his wife, Valerie, whom he married in 1963; by a daughter, Mrs. Constance Robinson of Carmel Valley; a son Frederick Heron of Sacramento, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Private services were held yesterday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with Dr. Fred Farley, a close personal friend, reading the service. His ashes will be scattered at sea. Those wishing to make contributions in his memory may do so to charities of their choice.

"And now the stage seems to be set and it's getting near curtain time. And soon the ghosts of the old houses and the pioneers will walk."

M.H.

Critical Need for Classrooms Cited

The critical need for more classroom space at the high school, Middle School and at Tularacitos School was sketched to the Carmel School Board last night by Supt. Dr. Harris Taylor. An Adult School course in Family Life Education covering changing concepts of marriage goals, individual barriers to self-fulfillment, and divorce was approved by the board.

A five-week summer planning session to relate business subjects, graphic arts, home appliance repair, floriculture-horticulture and fire science to English, social studies, math and science for the benefit of terminal vocational-technical students was outlined. The course will involve nine teachers. A request for authorization to submit a $10,000 grant application under Title III, ESEA through the regional EDINN was approved.

Approval for county audiovisual services covering use of films, filmstrips, slides and equipment repair was granted.

The 1966-67 Audit was approved and business manager Hinton commended for excellent equipment and financial records.
